My O My o My

My O My o My

My o my o my. I'm craving to get high. Not on pills. Not on thrills

But on my Love close by

Not my old Love, I declare. He used to punch me and didn't care

Now it's someone new at last. Not my Love from the past.
My new Love is gentle and kind

My new love gives me peace of mind.

Song Long

So Long

So glad we met
I'll say "so long"

We will meet again
With a song

What a Blast!

I'm now age 81. I look back on my life and think,

“What a blast!”

Did I make mistakes? Sure, I did. But they were my mistakes, no one else's. In other words, I did what I felt I wanted for myself, not what some one else said I should do.

Well, that's true, sort of. I wasn't sure about going to college but my parents insisted I go. So, I went and loved it. Then my parents, after a year of college, pulled me out. They didn't like my boyfriend.

They didn't believe me when I said it was over between us. But they finally did a year later he came over my house to introduce me to his pregnant wife.

But that was long ago, 1962, and my ex is now dead. And there were many exes after him, including a late husband. Yes, my late husband, Billy the Belligerent.

We met at a dance. He was a perfect gentleman. We then went out for drinks and had a wonderful evening. When he drove me home, he found out my father was an MD because of the sign in front of my house. I know he saw it because he said something about it. Would he have he asked me out again if he hadn't seen the sign? I never thought of that then. To me Billy was the “M-WORDS”—MR. MARVELOUS. We soon were MARRIED, but it was a different M-WORD he was interested in—MONEY.

Billy soon found out I was not a favorite in the family and the MONEY turned out to be MISSING. Billy was no longer MR. MARVELOUS, but MR. MONSTER. He was constantly punching me and complaining that I MISTREATED him.

At one point MR. MONSTER tried getting some MONEY from my mother by asking her to lend him $30,000.00. And she did. But she charged him interest. MR. MONSTER did not like that.

The stress of living with MR. MONSTER was unbearable. He was constantly punching me and yelling at me. When he yelled at me, I yelled back. But that wasn't allowed and I got punched. MR. MONSTER decided that I was MENTALLY ILL. I could have been. He was driving me crazy.

Then something happened to MR. MARVELOUS MONSTER. I went to the doctor with him. After the doctor examined him, the doctor called me into his office.

Billy had hardening of the arteries. He was very sick. At the same time my mom was very sick. My dad had passed away not too long ago and Billy and my mom soon followed.

What was I to do? Nothing seemed to be working out. I decided to pay a visit to my accountant. We talked and talked.

Bottom line, I'm now MS MONEYBAGS.

A Small Child's Question

When I was in my younger years

My mom was teaching me

Of our wonderful USA

The land of the brave and the free

All of us have freedom of speech

And freedom of the press

And also, freedom of assembly

With all these things we're blessed

But when we passed my grammar school

There was a sign on the door

I was too young to read the sign

So, I asked my mom what's it for

She said it said—No Loitering

And I asked her what was that

She said when people just hang around

And I asked her what was wrong with that

Well, they could be up to no good

That's just what she said to me

And I thought of our freedoms

Of speech, press and assembly

No Loitering. No Loitering

I couldn't understand

Yet, freedom of assembly

Makes our country grand
